

Frederick Brewington

Owner/Principal

Law Offices of Frederick K. Brewington

Brewington established his Hempstead general practice law firm in 1987. With an emphasis on litigation, he handles civil rights, voting rights, employment discrimination, constitutional law, education, police misconduct and abuse and other matters. He is also an adjunct professor of law at Touro College Jacob D. Fuchsberg Law Center in Central Islip, where he teaches federal pretrial litigation and trial practice. Additionally, Brewington acts as a court-appointed referee in Nassau County foreclosure actions. He is a 1982 graduate of the Northeastern University School of Law.

FREDERICK BREWINGTON