

Holocaust Memorial and Tolerance Center host film screening and Q&A

By The Island Now - February 17, 2020

The Holocaust Memorial and Tolerance Center of Nassau County's David Taub Reel Upstanders Film Series presents a screening of the documentary "Documenting Hate: New American Nazis" on Sunday, March 15, at 1 p.m. at the Holocaust Memorial and Tolerance Center at Welwyn Preserve, 100 Crescent Beach Rd. in Glen Cove. Noted civil rights attorney Frederick K. Brewington will provide commentary and participate in a Q & A session.

"Documenting Hate: New American Nazis," produced by Frontline and ProPublica, explores white supremacist groups in America, paying particular attention to a new-Nazi group called Atomwaffen Division. Continuing FRONTLINE and ProPublica's reporting on violent white supremacists in the U.S., this joint investigation shows the group's terrorist objectives and how it gained strength after the 2017 Charlottesville rally.

Frederick K. Brewington holds a Bachelor of Arts from SUNY Albany and a Juris Doctor Degree from Northeastern School of Law. Raised in Lakeview, Brewington has become a respected lawyer and community advocate with a distinguished legal career. With his expertise in civil rights litigation, he has successfully challenged the "at large" voting system in the Town of Hempstead and worked on preventing future unconstitutional and discriminatory purging of voters from the voting role.

With his sustained focus on issues such as affordable housing, community revitalization efforts, employment and civil rights, the environment and, especially, voting rights and fair representation in government, Brewington has labored against injustices through litigating, writing, lecturing, and through building relationships of encouragement among citizen organizations.

$10 suggested donation to attend. Light refreshments will be served. Seating is limited; please RSVP in advance to (516) 571-8040 or programs@hmtcli.org.

Submitted by the Holocaust Memorial Tolerance Center of Nassau County

Share

Tweet

Pin

Email

Share

Share

Tweet

Pin

Email

Share

